

We have just launched the new website and blog to help promote the 2009 All In For A Cure Charity Poker Tournament. This year's event is extra special for me as my father had passed on April 10, 2009 from his battle with Pancreatic Cancer.

Initial planning has started as we look to book a venue and start to secure some of our main sponsorships for the event. Once the venue is secured we will be getting into full blown promotion of the event. Some great contacts have been made over the last few months which should make this the best event to date.
